COMBINED FEDERAL CAMPAIGN

Campaigns of the Week

OPNAV

The Office of the Chief of Naval Operations (OPNAV) will hold its final charity fair of the campaign on December 8th. Eight charities will share how the generosity of the donations received from the CFC benefit their specific causes. During the campaign, OPNAV hosted two other charity fairs allowing 22 charities the opportunity to present themselves and demonstrate to hundreds of people the power of the individual donor.

The OPNAV team led by co-campaign managers LCDR Jim Scianna and CAPT Nick Oltman along with their Loaned Executive, Tamika Johnson, organized a tremendously motivated group of coordinators and keyworkers to lead OPNAV to one of its best campaigns in years. OPNAV has raised nearly 35% more than last year and is on track to hit its goal for the first time in over five years.

OPNAV employees have shown they represent what public service is all about. These empowered individuals have become the everyday philanthropist by connecting to worthy causes. OPNAV hopes to carry this positive momentum into the final charity fair and all the way to the end of the campaign.

Gobble of the Week

"We rise by lifting others."

ONI

On November 16th, the Office of Naval Intelligence (ONI) held its Mid-Campaign CFC Rally and Charity Fair. The star of the show was seven year-old Connor Durgin who is the son of ONI's Heather Durgin. Connor is a cancer survivor who was diagnosed with infantile myofibromatosis while in utero. He beat cancer and several other medical problems throughout his young life. Connor came to ONI to talk to the workforce about all of the neat experiences he had thanks to charitable organizations that are a part of the Combined Federal Campaign.

As a "Make-a-Wish Kid", Connor travelled to Disney World and received the VIP treatment during a weeklong stay. Thanks to "Face-Off Against Cancer" Connor became an honorary member of the Johns Hopkins University Men's Lacrosse Team. Recently Connor even had the chance to skate with Alex Ovechkin and the Washington Capitals!

During the program, Heather addressed the ONI workforce and discussed her son's battle with cancer. She said, "There was a 20% chance of survival with this cancer. He's been a fighter his whole life, but it's thanks to your donations to charitable organizations that we're here today. Thank you for your donations. Thank you for your generosity." Connor told stories to the crowd about pirates, submarines, and the difference between F5 tornados and water spouts. He even helped himself to an ONI sailor's bag of fresh popcorn! The presentation was followed by a Charity Fair that was attended by 22 charitable organizations and was a remarkable success.
